Key takeaways

After analyzing the commits to the rootbeer repository I found a few key pieces of information that will help to make further decisions regarding the project. The project was started in 2015 and between 2015 and 2016 are when most of the commits were made. There are two main contributors who have produced most of the code in the project are scottyab and stealthcopter. The majority of other contributors have only one commit and have not added much value to the project. Here is a graph showing activity in the project by the number of file changes over time.

The github find by path API was very useful in finding all of the information regarding commits in the project.
